Your Year

As the soil of Europe echoes with the sound of marching feet, the halls of your high school resound with free and uncensored voices. Men in other lands die to gain freedom of thought for those who remain, while your educational plan encourages original ideas and the democratic ideal of cooperative self government. As your country advances with the years, Mishawaka High School nourishes ideals and traditions. Books and journals are filled with lasting documents of history, a history of continual improvement, a perpetual striving toward a higher standard of life. The Miskodeed staff records a multiplicity of memories — a year well spent in Mishawaka High School.

Your Administration

FOLLOWS A PROGRAM OF IMPROVEMENT

Last fall, more than seventeen hundred over-anxious students crowded into the spic and span halls of Mishawaka High School a month later than usual. Superintendent P. C. Emmons had twice postponed the opening of schools. Principal R. R. Myers had cleared his desk of work several weeks before and Assistant Principal F. W. Chapman had already run out of stories concerning his summer vacation. Dean of Girls Jean Cravens was lost without the sound of voices and typewriters and the rush of school life. Secretary Ruth Heeter and Assistant Mary Frances Kabel were leisurely finishing preparations for semester activities. Miss Madeleine Bock and Mrs. Audrey M. Sweaney had kept book shop shelves immaculate for several weeks. Secretary to Board of Education Ida L. Betts wondered at the peacefulness of the halls. All were completely bored with the general absence of activity.

FOR YOU AND YOUR SCHOOL

Within a week after the opening of school, officials were presiding over a normal and well regulated high school. Teachers and bystanders marveled at the smoothness with which nearly eighteen hundred students were herded into a fifteen hundred capacity building. Such a result speaks exceedingly well for the careful planning and thoughtful preparation of the administration.

Board of Control members, with Mr. Maurice Kuhn as president, have since convened monthly to discuss their share in the financial responsibility for the new stadium as well as to authorize payment of bills. The Board provides banking facilities for school organizations. This year, in addition, the Board has made all arrangement relative to handling the crowds in the stadium.

Faculty MEMBERS HAVE BEEN INVITED

Miss Cravens: "I want you to read, read, read. . ."

Miss Davidson: "Enunciate!"

Miss Kabel: "Well, I don't know now."

Mr. Stout: "Now let's look at it from this point of view."

Mr. Gardner: "Young folks, please —"

Miss Moist: "Just for fun, let's do this problem."

Miss Buchanan: "Eyes on your copy. Write!"

Mr. Kuhn: "Come up and see our experiment sometime."

Miss Erwin: "Where have you been keeping this book?"

Mr. Nygard, One of the brief case boys.

Mr. Thurston: "You're just a bunch of pantywaists."

Miss Rosenberger: "Really!" "Now, here is the situation."

Mr. Blakeway: "This is a little advanced for you."

Miss Nugent: "I hope you'll keep up the good work."

Miss Ulrey: "May we have your gum?"

Miss Litzner: "I'm sorry, but I'll have to send you home."

Mr. Hatcher: "I have the records in my files."

Miss Carlberg, Smile . . . giggle . . . giggle.

Miss Foulke: "All right, girls, let up on your pencil."

TO SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES

Mr. Chapman: "Where were you during the seventh hour?"

Miss Perkins: "When I went to Radcliffe."

Miss Lester: "This simply must be a polished production."

Mr. Struck: "Cheer up, Archie! You'll soon be dead."

Miss Sasse: "Oh, my dear, that isn't right!"

Miss Hardesty: "I remember once . . ."

Mr. Goppert: "Don't say I never did anything for you."

Mr. Steele: "Lot o' green material this year."

Mr. Broman: "Elucidate!"

Mr. Arndt: "I want you to hit hard . . . whoosh!"

Mr. Wood: ". . . Quiet! I can't concentrate."

Mr. Boggs: "Hey, you guys!"

Mr. DeCroes: "Faculty members, friends, and members of the student body."

Mr. Sprague: "You can get it if you want to."

Miss Briggs: "Objections, arguments or what have you?"

Miss Hackett: "You can't do that if you're going to be a musician."

Miss Mason: "Do as I told you."

Mr. Marsee: "Grumble . . . grumble . . ."

Miss Wyland: "You may translate the next sentence, um . . . um . . ."

Mr. Hall: "There will be debate meeting tonight."

Senior Officers OCCUPY HONORARY POSITION

Charles Kopsea, vice-president; Hope Barrett, treasurer; Elsie Hoffman, secretary; Phil Lahr, president. Charles Rupchock (not pictured) was elected May 1 to replace Charles Kopsea who withdrew from school.

Graduation will soon climax the high school careers of 331 industrious Mishawaka High School seniors. Of these 331 students, 63, looking forward to further education, are being graduated on a College Preparatory course; another 15 have followed a Pre-Engineering course. Eighty-one have prepared for business by majoring in commercial work; 41 more selected the Trade course. Six are being graduated on the Home Economics course; two have chosen the Fine Arts course; and 123 have completed the requirements for graduation on the General course. All told, the Class of 1941 is the largest group ever to be graduated from Mishawaka High School.

The question now uppermost in the mind of every senior is "Graduation now; what next?" The high school courses have prepared him for a career; have offered countless opportunities for development of talents and aptitudes. The faculty has aided the student in whatever course of study he selected. Each graduate of M. H. S. should feel confident of the future, for he has had four years of valuable training which, if his time has not been wasted, should help him greatly in his search for success.

Senior History LISTS HIGH LIGHTS OF GRADUATING CLASS

As a class, the seniors have made an enviable record in dramatics, in Student Council activities, and in social affairs. Humor and suspense featured the first play, "The Life of Riley," a three-act comedy by Harvey Mason, directed by Miss Margaret Moist. The Junior play, "Spring Fever," by Philip Barry, also a comedy, was given under the direction of Miss Wilhelmina Lester. For their last play, the seniors chose "The American Way," a timely and patriotic drama by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, coached by Miss Lora Duguid.

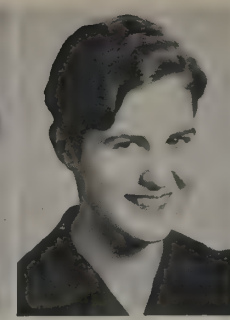

Three years ago, leaders of the Class of '41 made a trip to Roosevelt High School, East Chicago, to study student government. This year, senior members of the Student Council wrote a constitution, later ratified by the student body, giving students greater opportunity to participate in student government.

Last year, as Juniors, the class honored the Class of 1940 at the annual Junior Prom which was held in the Palais Royale ballroom, and on May 23 of this year the 1941 seniors, in turn, were entertained by the Juniors at the Prom, the last major social function for seniors.

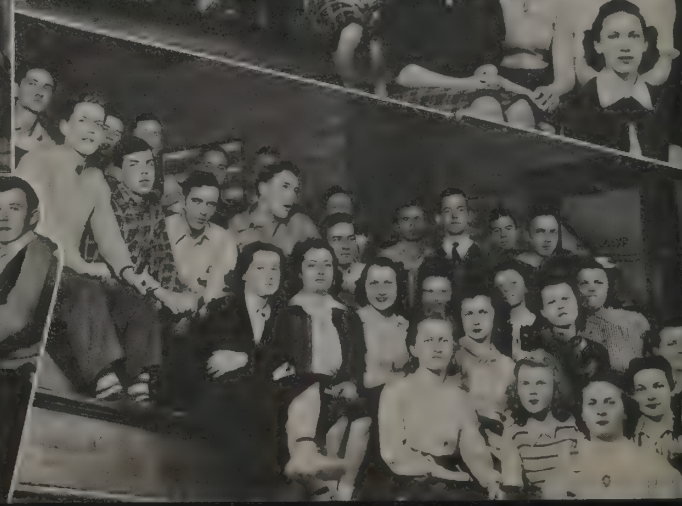

Individual members of the graduating class, too, have attained honors at M. H. S. Remember when Phil Lahr scored 25 points in a sectional basketball game? . . . when Dorothy Loucks as Miss Ko-deed provided an interesting interlude between the halves of the Central-Mishawaka football game? . . . when Dick Pedrotty and Muriel Pope took the lead roles in both the Speech Club and the Senior Class plays and distinguished themselves as Thespians? . . . when Mary Arnold represented this district for three consecutive years at the Annual State Mathematics Contest, placing favorably each time? . . . when Louise Prahl won the poetry reading contest in her sophomore year and had her name engraved on the Van Rie trophy cup? . . . when James Beyer was elected president of the Twin City Hi Y, and Evelyn Burns, president of the Twin City Girl Reserve Council? . . . when Anna Kovach set a new record for advanced typing students? . . . when Betty Kase and Helen Jaqua who had served as yell leaders for four years were given M. H. S. sweaters — the first girls ever to win these awards? And then Phil Lahr, Bob Currey, and Mary Arnold brought honor to themselves and to the school by winning competitive scholarships to I. U. and Purdue.

Junior High Schools House Part of Freshman Class

Students who live in the west and north-west sections of Mishawaka spend their first semester of high school at either Main or Battell Junior High School. The crowded condition of the high school building renders this necessary.

ORGANIZATIONS STIMULATE VARIED STUDENT ACTIVITY

Suffering from a severe case of epidemicitis, M. H. S. student organizations and clubs began to wake up later than usual this year. By November only four clubs had shaken off the effects of the summer and had held meetings.

Years ago faculty members realized the importance of William Hazlitt's words: "A mere scholar, who knows nothing but books, must be ignorant even of them," and they instituted what is known as extra-curricular activities. This year, because students were plunged into the job of completing their semester's work in the shortest time in the history of the school, organizations and clubs occupied secondary positions. Officers and sponsors tried unavailingly to stimulate interest.

First to respond was the Commercial Club whose members listened to future employers speak on business topics. Not far behind was the Girl Reserves, a group which reaches every class in school. MISKODEED matinee dances excited a slight spark in dance-minded students, but this died away after several attempts. Hi Y members woke up long enough to sell their quota of programs at the Central game and to send representatives to several conferences with groups from other schools. In December, the curtain was drawn on one of the most successful Speech Club plays ever presented on our High School stage. The club added another feather to its cap with the fairly successful season of its debate team. Observers were surprised at the Forum Club which, from all appearances, became one of the most intellectual groups in school through discussions on current affairs. Chess Club members, too, astonished by-standers with their small but proficient organization. Before Christmas, from a hushed auditorium, twenty-one dazed students were selected to join the thin ranks of the National Honor Society. Thirty more were chosen in the spring. About the middle of the year, Art Club members began talking of a trip to the Chicago Art Institute as they worked on their scrap books. Government regulations made shops unavailable to Engineering Club members. Noon hours were brightened by the showing of Science Club movies. In February, Home Economics Club enthusiasts again made the Martha Washington Tea for mothers and teachers its main event. Mercurius readers absorbed ancient Roman news and jokes when the two-paged sheet was finally distributed among the Latin classes. Members of the Forgers Club realized, in the sparsely attended meetings, the importance of equipping themselves with the knowledge of how to get jobs. Staff-members of the ALL-TOLD reached the highest subscription mark in the history of the paper. This spring, eleven journalistically inclined students were added to the ranks of the Quill and Scroll. Student Council representatives, finally realizing that their organization was not as effective as it should be, slowly formulated a constitution which some boasted would change the entire set-up of the legislative body. By mid-February, students had settled down seriously to the business of making their organizations worthwhile.

Ambitious Senior Actors Present THE AMERICAN WAY

For two long winter seasons, The American Way by Kaufman and Hart thrilled Broadway's patriotic audiences. Frederic March in the roll of a German immigrant made Martin Gunther a familiar figure. Though the play had not yet been attempted by any amateur producer, Miss Duguid surprised townspeople with the production of the same play that had left New York audiences sniffing in their seats. Many said that merely thinking about the direction of such a huge cast was a nightmare in itself, but after the lights had been dimmed, they were astounded by the reality of the pageant-like production. Supporting the two leads, Muriel Pope and Richard Pedrotty, were these forty-

Service Groups

Students Serve as Staff Members in School Offices and Library

In order to keep the machinery of so big an institution running smoothly, many assistants are needed in the numerous offices, in the library, as hall-guides who are termed hostesses, and as ushers at the evening auditorium programs.

The students who are selected to work in these positions, serve under the guidance of a faculty member, and assist with the various duties for one hour each day. The girls who help in the principal's office, check the attendance and do general office errand work. Office assistants for this year are Mary Ann Bolinger, Barbara Edgar, Betty Ellsasser, Betty Kase, Maxine Orton, Mary Lou Wylie, and Betty Yendes.

In the nurse's office, in the assistant-principal's office, and in the office of the dean of girls, assistants take out call slips, do filing, typing, and general office work. Martha Bancroft, Frances Breackevelt, Stella DeBlaere, Derna Mordenti, Irene Nauts, and Helen Weinkauff assist Miss Litzner, the school nurse.

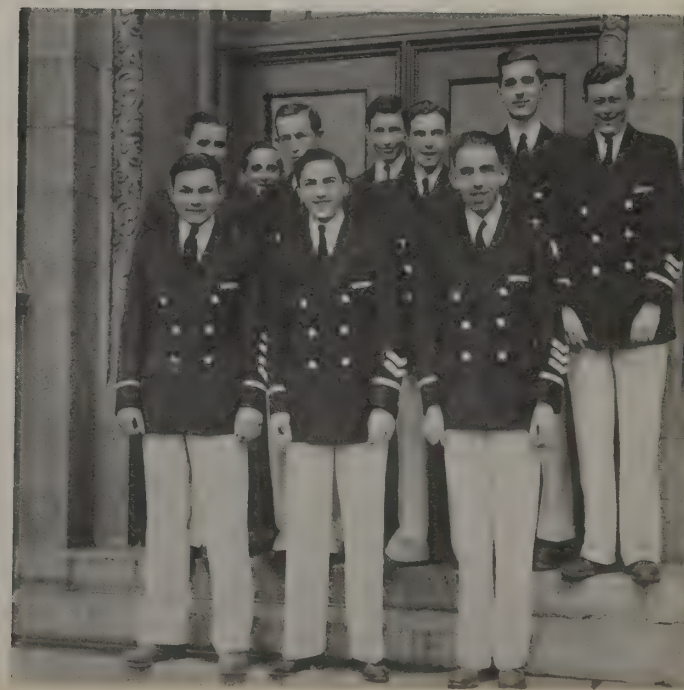

In Miss Cravens' office are Barbara Albright, Margaret Ardeel, Dorothy Brower, Margaret Curtis, Emma Hillaert, and Freda Tracas. Mr. Chapman employs both boys and girls in his office. His assistants for the year are Margaret Curtis, Margaret Hixenbaugh, Betty Linsenmier, Rose Mahank, Frederick Sparks, and Lowell Spencer, Jr.

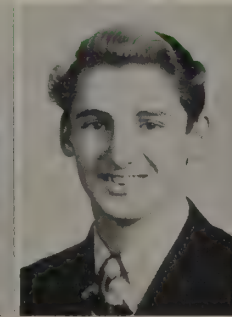

Library assistants take the roll, act as desk assistants, work in the magazine room, and send out notices for overdue books. Two students work each hour taking the roll, one at the desk, and one in the magazine room. Aides to Miss Erwin in that capacity are Doris Rehburn, Louise Caskey, Laura B. Foster, Gertrude Wolvos, Adelvice Bronzetti, Helen Jaqua, Helen Buraczewski, Derna Mordenti, Doris Neff, Elizabeth Voelkert, Dora Craig, Elaine Hoover, Eleanor Kizer, Dorothy Sheaks, Betty Jo Millard, Ida Barrett, Shirley Flynn, Barbara Price, Dorothy M. Fulmer, Betty June Smith, Nelson Wurz, Ernestine Gibson, Evelyn Stanley, Betty Goddard, Betty Wardell, Betty Lou Mallica, and Georgine Talacci.

The hostesses, or hall guides, assist the office girls, collect absence slips, direct strangers who enter the building, and do errands for the faculty. Whenever their duties permit, they sit near the front entrance. The hostesses are Harriet Arnold, Norma Breunlin, Veral Broman, Joan Carter, Alyce Collins, Ernestine Gibson, Selma Heaton, Betty Ellen Janes, Martha Lang, Virginia McKnight, LaFern Moltz, Maxine Paul, Muriel Pope, Lucy Ricci, Norma Richter, and Helen Weinkauf.

The ushers, who are under the supervision of Mr. Amos, have official uniforms and take charge at all evening programs in the auditorium. The ushers who appear in the picture at the right are: Robert Ackenhusen, Edgar Chamberlin, Guy Downer, Andrew Kwasny, Louis Ludwig, Harold Macready, Glenn Robinson, William Schmidt, Donald Steffoff, Arnold Thompson, Jack Thomspson, and Elwin Zeller.

Annual Spring Concert Combines Glee Clubs, Orchestra, and Choir

Culminating event of the music season is the spring concert which is designed to display both the talents and the technique of all branches of the department. At that time the full orchestra and the glee clubs, the choir and the sextet appear with vocal and instrumental soloists. Any appearance of these musical units is marked by an especially good choice of selections, many of which are considered rather advanced for students of high school age. Most ambitious numbers this year were "The Heavens Are Telling" from "The Creation" by Haydn, and "He Watching Over Israel" from "The Elijah" by Mendelssohn.

An occasion to be long remembered by members of the A Capella Choir was the South Bend Symphony Concert in which they took part with choirs from South Bend High Schools. Percy Grainger was the soloist and conductor.

One of the loveliest traditions of the school is the vesper service at Christmas time, in which tableaux, reproductions of famous paintings of the nativity, are shown framed by a cathedral rose window and accompanied by carols sung by the choir. The first performance was arranged as a Christmas assembly program and a Parent Teacher meeting. The affair has become a city-wide vesper service witnessed by an audience which overflows the auditorium, even though students may see a morning performance during the assembly period. Miss Jones has gathered an amazing number of carols, representing several foreign countries and both old and modern times.

THIS YEAR IN SPORTS

One frosty evening last September, anxious townspeople crowded past ticket-takers into the bleachers of the new stadium. All were speculating on what Coach R. H. Arndt had been able to accomplish in one week's practice. It was true that Mishawaka had played two successful out-of-town games — but the real test was still to come. From that first night to the end of the season, football lovers were thrilled by smashing teamwork of back-field and line; Coach Arndt and staff had developed not only a colorful but a powerful squad.

Fans followed the squad through the season of seven games with only two defeats. Most remembered was the exceptional power that left opponents somewhat bewildered.

Last November as the 1940 basketball season was about to begin, associates of "Dutch" Struck were nervously biting their nails.

Three years before a prodigious quintet had entered the gynasium as freshmen; critics prophesied a state championship at the end of four years. These same critics this year began to wonder as to the outcome of their prediction.

Stricken with a losing complex, Struck and squad plodded through the season. Only relief to students and townspeople was the fact that the team was never beaten badly. Some felt that the team had the material to win but lacked the initiative and was satisfied to tag along. Others felt that sports this year were not taken as seriously as they should be. Still more remarked that the spirit of the fellows on the team was "tops" and that was all that counted. Only a few times were members allowed to pat themselves on the back. Among these were the defeat of Elkhart, and the excellent showing against Central both during the season and at the sectional.

You Carry These Memories With You From the Basketball Season

When:

"Bud" Houghton made his initial appearance in the lineup and led the team to victory over Elkhart.

Herbie Pletcher entered the game during an overtime and scored the winning basket.

Larry Deal was elected Honorary Captain of the squad.

Phil Lahr became high scorer of the season.

Francis Pedrotty outdid himself in taking rebounds from Central.

Herb Hoffman surprised fans with his "awkard" accurateness.

La Vern Baney thrilled crowds with his scrappiness.

"Dutch" Struck amused fans by his antics on the bench.

Dean Trump, promising sophomore center, used his six feet five inches to good advantage.

Sparky Casini, ace set-shot artist when "on," scored a bullseye from side court.

The season's record of the 1940-41 edition of the Mishawaka High basketball team was not the greatest that wearers of the Maroon and White have ever set down in the record books, but still it was a season that shouldn't be too easily forgotten by Mishawaka sport fans.

Such a season necessitated experimenting with the material available and juggling of line-ups. Almost every week saw a new combination in action as the Maroon vainly sought that elusive victory streak. Still they kept pulling together hoping that perhaps their combined efforts would gain them the laurels they desired. They could truly be classified as a scrappy team.

Outlook Bright for Good Track Season

This spring, hurdlers, sprinters, and long distance runners of M. H. S. began the long grind of daily practice for their much sought after perfection. Track team members, proud of their past accomplishments, were determined to equal if not better previous teams.

Mid-season saw track-members in good form. Jim Marvel had placed in the half mile run at the Gary Invitational held at the Notre Dame fieldhouse. Blond haired Frank Steele had already proved himself an up and coming athlete and fans prophesied great things for him; Bud Houghton had shown himself a valuable man on the relay team; George Pozwilka had already taken three first places in high jumping; Herman Heintzberger, Carl Housand, and Bill Koontz were all dashing for first places in the 440 yd. run. Weight-pusher Charles Rupchock had made another mark for himself; Dick Zeller and Paul Johnston had been polishing their high and low hurdle sprints; Pole-vaulter Charles Garman had gathered in points more than once; most promising in the half mile was junior, Bob Boger; Camiel Paradien, George Phillips, Joe Zirille, Bill Walsh, and Maurice Wiseman had all been working hard for key positions; Art Claeys, Jim De Meester, Frank Steele, and Roscoe Ransberger were rapidly pulling down ribbons in the dashes.

Followers of the cinder track were satisfied with Thurston's 1941 squad.

Managers Are Essential

The forgotten men of varsity sports are the managers. The job of the manager is to issue equipment and to perform minor first-aid treatment. Last fall football managers took over new headquarters in the stadium.

The work of manager is not easy. Long after the games were over and the teams had left, the managers could be seen sorting out the equipment.

Basketball managers had hardly packed up their belongings after a truly hard season, when track managers began to move in. Most valued possession of varsity managers are their associations with "real" fellows.

Top (Basketball): Leno Casini, Richard Barnes, Roger Doyle, Robert Barnes.

Middle (Football): Walter Otterstein, John Tracas, William Claeys.

Golf Leads Tennis in Minor Sports

Golf links this spring became populated with members of an experienced squad of players. Most outstanding was Dick Kelley, winner of last year's city junior golf match. Others remaining from last year's squad were Jack Brewer, Dale Metzger, Steve Pracklet, and Van Rogers. Members were given a free hand by Coach "Dutch" Thurston; observers believed that was all that was needed. By midseason, only loss compiled was that to Michigan City. Fans were confident of winning all remaining matches.

The season's record thus far:

Mishawaka	4½	Michigan City	7½
Mishawaka	11½	John Adams	½
Mishawaka	7	Laporte	7
Mishawaka	11½	Goshen	½

Last fall, newly strung rackets were placed in their presses without so much as a taste of inter-school competition; tennis had been affected even more than other sports by the postponement of school. This spring new members as well as old prepared to meet the coming season with visions of great success.

Below (Golf): Mr. Thurston, Kenneth Chamberlin, Jack Brewer, Dale Metzger, Van Rogers, Louis LaVeechio, Steve Pracklet, Richard Kelley.

Intramural Sports Are Democratic

Many boys at M. H. S. do not engage in varsity sports. For them the Boys' Intramural Athletic Association provides competition in the various sports in an organized program. Under the Intramural system participants can obtain the benefits and enjoyment of playing the game without the long period of training necessary for varsity participation.

The late start of school last fall necessitated abandoning the passball league.

Basketball created the most enthusiasm during the winter months. A noon league consisting of twenty-two teams was organized and play continued for several months. An interclass league also was formed and the winners of these two leagues played to decide the championship of the school. The senior team, victor of the interclass league, gained the title. Team members were: Robert Barnes, Leno Casini, Robert Eberhardt, Lloyd Karnes, Russell Ronan, Bill Rosenburgh, and Rex Shaffer.

Six teams vied for volley ball honors. The winners of this league were: Bob Fagan, Jim Miller, George Nome, Dick Shaffer, Dean Stebbins, and La Vern Trittipo.

Approximately fifty boys interested in tumbling reported to the gym three times a week to practice their routines. The tumbling team entered no inter-school contests, but they did participate in three exhibitions.

Lower Left: Basic basketball fundamentals and rules are taught in the boys' physical education classes.

Girls Enjoy Noon Hour Sports With G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association, one of the most popular organizations in school, has a membership of 119. Activities were guided this year by three senior girls: Helen Buraczewski, Ida Ferrettie, and Irene Fain.

Six girls earned the 150 points which enabled them to receive their G. A. A. numerals. Four girls, each having earned 250 points, received maroon and white M's. These girls are shown in the top picture with other members of the "M" club. Anna Bluem, Adelvice Bronzetti, Helen Buraczewski, Alyce Collins, Irene Fain, Ida Ferrettie, Julia Gulyanics, Alma Johnson, Lenora Miller, Elizabeth Vander Wende, Frances Walerko, Joan Winey, and Mary Lou Wylie, each having won 350 points, received state awards.

The G. A. A. April Frolic, a sport dance given in April, was the major event of the year. Other activities of the club included a "Basketball Night" and a faculty women-senior girls volleyball game; and fifteen girls attended the State Play Day at John Adams High School where the G. A. A. of South Bend Riley High School was host to ten schools. State awards were given there.

Music and Travel Talks Provide Entertaining Assemblies

An interesting tale of India, dramatically told by Mr. William S. Willett who lived a number of years in that country, and a display of articles which he had collected, rang down the curtain on a group of unusually entertaining assembly programs. Mr. Willett not only showed articles of Hindu dress, but also demonstrated how they are worn. From Blodgett Holmes' movies "Along the Spanish Main" to the lecture on India which was made possible by the Parent-Teacher Association, programs were of exceptionally good quality and extremely varied.

Early in the second semester came Mr. Philip Foxwell, magician, who is by no means a stranger to Mishawaka students. A native of South Bend, he has several times entertained with his rather amazing tricks. Some time later, Mr. Walter Stickler, a local naturalist, showed his movies of camp life in Minnesota.

Especially appealing to students as a whole was the W. G. N. Philharmonic Quartet, a group which presented a varied and colorful program in a finished, professional manner. English students were especially pleased to hear several old ballads, and everyone liked "Who Killed Cock Robin" presented with costume effects and lively humor.

Another musical assembly brought the Albion College Glee Club, robed in black with rather startling satin collars in school colors. The group was deservedly well received but disappointed the audience by granting no encores. Wade Parks, a recent M. H. S. graduate, appeared in piano recital on March 28 before freshmen and sophomores.

Mr. Frederick Bowers, a composer and representative of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, currently known as ASCAP, sang and played some old favorite songs and endeavored to justify the protection afforded by the union to its composer members.

Audiences realized that where there's a will there's a way, when one-armed Giovanni Sperandeo and his wife entertained with stories of his life and with songs of his native land.

Last year, auditorium committee members saw that auditorium sessions were crowded; students weren't interested in programs arranged because of uncomfortable seating facilities. This fall, assemblies were divided into two sections; observers found that programs were anticipated with enthusiasm, and were greatly enjoyed.

Left to Right: Mr. Clarke adjusts the $25,000 Van Norman Universal Milling Machine, recent addition to school equipment.

Center: Mr. Struck arrives in style to preside over South Bend game preliminaries.

Right: Biology Club Officers, Robert Rudduck, Frederick Sparks, Joyce Clark, and Natalie Kamm.
